

Statement of Work:

Fred Cohen & Associates (FCA) will perform a Security Architecture Future study for [CLIENT]. This will consist of the following items:

1. FCA personnel will hold 2 days of scheduled telephone meetings with CLIENT on two successive days as mutually scheduled. During these meetings, FCA will review approximately thirty decisions associated with enterprise security architecture with the client and come to an understanding of the desired directions of the enterprise for their future security architecture for the purposes of this study. These decisions will include the decisions identified with the “Security Decisions” book published by ASP Press and authored by FCA staff.
2. FCA will provide a written document of approximately 30 pages detailing the decisions undertaken and their basis and return this document in electronic format to the CLIENT within 10 days of the final telephone interview. This report will consist of:
 - An executive summary
 - A review of the decisions made on a decision-by-decision basis

If minor report revisions are desired, they will be provided over a period of 7 days at no added cost.

Additional terms and conditions:

- Single Point of Contact: CLIENT will provide FCA with a single point of contact (SPOC) to coordinate all efforts associated with this task and that SPOC will be authorized and able to provide all necessary information.
- Liability limitations: CLIENT indemnifies FCA and holds FCA harmless for all costs and consequences, whether direct or indirect, arising out of this effort, in all jurisdictions, in all forms, and in all cases.
- Best efforts: FCA will undertake best efforts to perform its tasks using the most suitable available technologies in a manner consistent with current usage, methodologies, techniques, and knowledge, however, because of the ever changing nature of the security, technology, business, regulatory, and physical environment, FCA MAKES NO WARRANTY, EITHER EXPRESSED OR IMPLIED, AS TO THE RESULTS OF THESE EFFORTS.
- Confidentiality: All CLIENT information is held in strictest confidence by FCA
- Ownership of results: With the exception of the report and draft reports provided to CLIENT by FCA, all materials used in the performance of an this effort are the intellectual property of FCA and will remain so.
